Department of Pharmacy Practice Annual Report

2015-2016

Dear Colleague:

It is our pleasure to present the sixth edition of the Department of Pharmacy Practice Annual Report. Our faculty members are dedicated to serving our students, residents, fellows, department, school, university, clinical practice sites, patients, and our community. While it is impossible to capture all that we do, this document briefly highlights the accomplishments of the faculty in our department in the past year.

The vision of our department is to provide an outstanding education to our students, residents, and fellows, to further our profession by engaging in scholarly activities and professional organizations, and to contribute to the health of the patients and communities we serve.

The Department of Pharmacy Practice contributes significantly to the didactic and experiential education of our students. Our department faculty members are responsible for coordinating 36 courses. These courses are offered to the School of Pharmacy and to other schools within Loma Linda University (LLU). In addition to School of Pharmacy, our faculty members teach in the LLU Schools of Dentistry and Nursing. The past year has also been productive in terms of scholarly activities. Our faculty members have had 26 posters and 10 manuscripts, abstracts, and book chapters accepted for publication. In the area of service, our faculty members serve patients in ambulatory care and acute care settings, both within and outside LLU Health. The department offers several diverse specialties, including infectious diseases, cardiology, endocrinology, respiratory, psychiatry, internal medicine, critical care, and pediatrics. In addition to participating in teaching, service and scholarly activities, faculty members are responsible for mentoring Introductory and Advanced Pharmacy Practice Experience students, PGY1 and PGY2 residents, and fellows. Additionally, our faculty provide guidance and mentorship to students during numerous community outreach events and other service activities throughout the year.

Once again, we would like to express our sincere appreciation to our faculty and staff, as well as our administrators, for providing us with an opportunity to serve our department. Thank you also to our colleagues at LLU Medical Center, under the leadership of Dr. Paul Norris and Dr. Norm Hamada, and to our preceptors, for their commitment and dedication.

We look forward to our continued collaboration with you, our most valuable partner.

Sincerely,

J. Tafreshi

BIOGRAPHY

Rebecca J. Cheung, PharmD, BCPS-AQ Cardiology

Dr. Cheung has been a faculty member at LLUSP since 2005 and Vice Chair of the Department of Pharmacy Practice since 2013. She received her Doctor of Pharmacy degree from the University of Southern California (USC) School of Pharmacy in 2002 and completed a pharmacy practice residency at Veterans Affairs (VA) Loma Linda Health Care System in 2003. After residency, she completed a cardiovascular pharmacotherapy fellowship through the University of the Pacific (UOP) and VA San Diego Health Care System in 2005. She teaches and coordinates Integrated Pharmacology and Disease Management (IPDM) III: Cardiovascular Diseases I and Drug Information and Literature Evaluation courses. She is also the coordinator of IPDM and Pharmaceutical Care Laboratory (PCL) course series. Additionally, she has a Medication Education Clinic at the VA clinic in Rancho Cucamonga. She manages and titrates medications for patients with chronic disease states such as diabetes, hypertension, and dyslipidemia.

Steven C. Forland, PharmD

Dr. Forland received his Doctor of Pharmacy degree from University of California San Francisco (UCSF) School of Pharmacy in 1974. He completed a post-doctoral fellowship at the State University of New York. Dr. Forland has been with Loma Linda University Medical Center (LLUMC) since 1975 and is currently the Clinical Pharmacist, Infectious Diseases Specialist for the Medical Center and Director of Infectious Diseases Fellowship.

Norman M. Hamada, PharmD

Dr. Hamada received his Doctor of Pharmacy degree from the UOP School of Pharmacy in 1980. He completed a Pharmacy Practice Residency at the Wadsworth VA Hospital in 1981. Dr. Hamada has worked as a staff pharmacist, Clinical Coordinator, and Assistant Director of Clinical Pharmacy Services since joining LLUMC in 1981. He is currently the LLUMC Director of Clinical Pharmacy Services. Dr. Hamada is the Director of the Postgraduate Year One (PGY1) Pharmacy Residency Program and the Pharmacy Administration Postgraduate Year Two (PGY2) Residency Program.

Alireza Hayatshahi, PharmD, BCPS

After receiving his Doctor of Pharmacy degree from Midwestern University College of Pharmacy-Glendale in 2003, Dr. Hayatshahi completed a general practice residency (American Society of Health-System Pharmacist, ASHP, equivalent) at Scottsdale Healthcare in Arizona and a PGY2 infectious diseases specialty residency at State University of New York at Stony Brook Medical Center in New York. He became a board certified pharmacotherapy specialist in 2008. Prior to joining LLUSP, Dr. Hayatshahi was a faculty member at the Tehran University of Medical Sciences (TUMS) School of Pharmacy in the Department of Pharmacy Practice. He also served as Residency Coordinator at TUMS-affiliated Shariati Medical Center. Dr. Hayatshahi's current clinical practice site is the Internal Medicine Units of LLUMC. His research interests include antibiotic stewardship, Internal Medicine therapeutics, and fluids and electrolytes management. He is heavily involved in inter-professional education activities, including joint continuing education projects between LLUSP and LLU School of Dentistry (LLUSD). He coordinates and lectures in many schools across LLU campus, including LLUSP and LLUSD.

Lisa Hong, PharmD, BCPS

Dr. Hong joined LLUSP as a faculty member in July 2015. She received her Doctor of Pharmacy from the University of Colorado Skaggs School of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences in 2013 and also completed her first year of residency training at the University of Colorado Hospital. She then completed a PGY2 in internal medicine at the University of Utah and became a board certified pharmacotherapy specialist. Dr. Hong currently practices and precepts on the Internal Medicine Units at LLUMC. She teaches fluids and electrolytes, cystic fibrosis, pulmonary hypertension, chronic kidney disease, and PCL III, a capstone course focused on patient cases, clinical application, and literature evaluation. She has a strong interest in interdisciplinary education and serves on the Center for Interprofessional Education Task Force as well as the Residency Advisory Committee.

Nancy Edman Kawahara, PharmD, MSED

Dr. Kawahara received her Doctor of Pharmacy from USC in 1982 and her masters in health professions education from USC in 1986. Before joining LLUSP in 2002, she held faculty positions at Western University of Health Sciences (WUHS), the University of Illinois at Chicago, and USC. Dr. Kawahara serves in the role of LLUSP Associate Dean for Assessment and Professional Affairs. She coordinates and teaches the introductory course in pharmaceutical care. In addition, Dr. Kawahara has administrative oversight and coordinates the Professional Development sequence that spans the first through third years of the curriculum. Dr. Kawahara has established a sustainable, annual summer volunteer experience at Camp Conrad Chinnock for students interested in learning more about the management of Type 1 Diabetes.

Justin Kinney, PharmD, MA

Dr. Kinney completed the dual degree program at LLUSP receiving both a Doctor of Pharmacy and Masters in Bioethics. He completed his PGY1 residency at Arrowhead Regional Medical Center and his PGY2 residency in Critical Care/Emergency Medicine at LLU. Dr. Kinney's practice site is at LLUMC Critical Care Units. Currently, he serves on the Ethics Committee for LLUMC. Dr. Kinney joined LLUSP in July 2016.

Jessa Koch, PharmD

Dr. Koch joined LLUSP as a faculty member in July 2016. She received her Doctor of Pharmacy degree from the University of Pittsburgh School of Pharmacy in 2014. She completed her first year of residency training at the Chillicothe Veterans Affairs Medical Center in Chillicothe, Ohio from 2014-2015, and then completed a PGY2 residency in psychiatry at the same facility from 2015-2016. Dr. Koch is practicing at the Social Action Community Health System (SACHS) clinic in San Bernardino in a multidisciplinary setting managing behavioral health conditions. Dr. Koch's primary clinical interest is in psychiatry. She is also interested in access to care, interdisciplinary education, and geriatrics.

Lee H. Nguyen, PharmD, BCPS-AQ ID

Dr. Nguyen received his Doctor of Pharmacy degree from UCSF School of Pharmacy in 2004. He completed a Pharmacy Practice Residency at UCSF in 2005 and a PGY2 Infectious Diseases Specialty Residency in 2006 at USC. His clinical practice site is St. Jude Medical Center (SJMC) in Fullerton, CA. SJMC is an adult-only acute care hospital with 380+ beds. The patient population is typically older, long-term nursing care patients. Services provided at SJMC include oncology, surgery, maternity, orthopedics, stroke, rehabilitation, emergency medicine, and intensive care. Dr. Nguyen is one of the leaders who developed and co-heads the antimicrobial stewardship program at SJMC.

Paul M. Norris, PharmD

Dr. Paul Norris has been a part of LLU for more than thirty years. Starting as a staff pharmacist shortly after graduating from UOP in 1980, he is currently the Executive Director of Pharmacy Services and several other clinical departments at LLUMC. He also serves as Associate Dean for Clinical Affairs at LLUSP. Dr. Norris' support for a School of Pharmacy started fifteen years before the dream became a reality. His persistence in his collaboration with Dr. Behrens to open a School of Pharmacy came to fruition when interviews for the first entering class got underway. His support of the pharmacy program has continued through the years in the form of sponsoring events such as hooding ceremonies, retreats, local outreach efforts, scholarships, teaching, advising student professional organizations and mentoring. In whatever role he serves, Dr. Norris has a passion for motivating students and residents to become leaders in the profession who give back to their communities and make a difference. Dr. Norris' commitment and passion for service extends beyond local communities and has taken him on several occasions to Sir Run Run Shaw Hospital in China, to support mission work there, to demonstrate and model the important role that pharmacists have as part of the healthcare team and to work with their Children's Hospital to improve pharmaceutical care. He has also traveled to Trinidad and Guiana as part of a healthcare team, and his department has supported multiple mission trips in the form of donated medications totaling well over $200,000. In his spare time, Dr. Norris enjoys time with his wife, Cynthia, and their 13 grandchildren.

Kristine A. Parbuoni, PharmD, BCPPS

Dr. Parbuoni received her Doctor of Pharmacy degree from the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy in 2005. She then completed a PGY1 Pharmacy Practice Residency and PGY2 Pediatric Specialty Residency at The Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland. Prior to coming to LLUSP in 2013, Dr. Parbuoni was the Assistant Director of Clinical Pharmacy and Investigational Drug Services at the University of Maryland Medical Center (UMMC) and provided clinical pharmacy services to the Pediatric Intensive Care Unit at the University of Maryland Children's Hospital. At LLU, Dr. Parbuoni's clinical site is in the Pediatric Cardiac Intensive Care Unit of the Children's Hospital. Dr. Parbuoni currently serves as the Residency Program Director for the PGY2 Pediatric Pharmacy Residency and the Residency Academic Coordinator for the LLU Pharmacy Residency Program. Dr. Parbuoni is actively involved in professional organizations including ASHP, California Society of Health-System Pharmacist (CSHP), and Society of Critical Care Medicine (SCCM). Her research interests include the management of sedation in pediatric critically ill children, pharmacokinetics of antimicrobials, and anticoagulation in pediatric patients.

Jody Santos, PharmD, CGP

Dr. Santos joined LLUSP in July 2015 as an Assistant Professor. She received both her Doctor of Pharmacy and Masters in Gerontology degrees from USC School of Pharmacy and USC Davis School of Gerontology in 2013. She completed a pharmacy practice residency at Kaiser Permanente Woodland Hills Medical Center in 2014 and a PGY2 residency in ambulatory care video telehealth at USC in 2015. Currently, she teaches and coordinates the endocrine and gastrointestinal and miscellaneous courses. She also teaches a portion of geriatrics in special populations. Her clinical practice site is the SACHS clinic in San Bernardino where she provides chronic disease management and drug information in a multidisciplinary setting as part of a collaborative practice agreement.

Caroline M. Sierra, PharmD

Dr. Sierra joined the faculty at LLUSP in July 2016. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree in biology at Pomona College and her Doctor of Pharmacy degree from the University of New Mexico College of Pharmacy in 2014. She then completed a PGY1 Pharmacy Residency and a PGY2 Pediatric Pharmacy Residency at Loma Linda University and School of Pharmacy. Dr. Sierra is actively involved in professional organizations, especially ASHP. She has completed research in pediatric critical care, heart transplant, and mentorship in academia.

Javad Tafreshi, PharmD, BCPS-AQ Cardiology, F.A.H.A.

Dr. Tafreshi received his Doctor of Pharmacy degree from USC in 1992. He completed a PGY1 Pharmacy Practice Residency in Tucson, Arizona and a PGY2 Specialty Cardiology Pharmacy Residency in Iowa City, Iowa. Prior to joining LLUSP in 2008, he was a faculty member at Midwestern University College of Pharmacy-Glendale, where he was the first faculty to receive tenure and promotion to the ranks of Associate Professor and Professor, and the University of Louisiana at Monroe, where he started as an Assistant Professor in 1997. He established the first ASHP-accredited PGY2 Cardiology Pharmacy Residency Program in the nation and is currently the Director of LLU PGY2 Cardiology Pharmacy Residency Program. He has been serving as the Acting Chair and Chair for the Department of Pharmacy Practice since September 2011. Dr. Tafreshi is a Fellow of the American Heart Association (AHA) and serves as a reviewer for AHA continuing education programs. Dr. Tafreshi has a secondary appointment as Professor with LLU School of Medicine.

Huyentran N. Tran, PharmD, BCPS

Dr. Tran received her Doctor of Pharmacy degree from LLUSP in 2010. She completed a PGY1 Pharmacy Practice Residency at Desert Regional Medical Center in Palm Springs, California and a PGY2 Specialty Cardiology Pharmacy Residency at LLUSP. After two years of residency, she joined the LLUSP faculty in 2012. Dr. Tran has participated in a multidisciplinary collaborative team at LLU International Heart Institute and LLUMC to provide comprehensive care in managing patients with cardiovascular disorders and serves as a preceptor for students and residents on clinical rotations. Dr. Tran serves as the faculty advisor for the American Pharmacists Association (APhA) chapter at LLUSP.

Joycelyn Yamzon, PharmD, BCACP

Dr. Yamzon completed her Doctor of Pharmacy degree and community pharmacy practice residency program at USC. Before transitioning to part-time faculty status, she practiced ambulatory care pharmacy at SACHS clinic in San Bernardino for underserved, uninsured/underinsured patients. Focusing on diseases of diabetes, hypertension, hyperlipidemia and asthma, she worked with physicians, physician assistants and nurse practitioners to manage and adjust medication therapy. She currently teaches immunizations, PCL I course focusing on medication therapy management, therapeutics of respiratory diseases, contraceptives, and introduction to informatics. She is a national Certified Asthma Educator (AE-C) and advisor for the California Pharmacists Association (CPhA) student chapter.

Farnoosh Zough, PharmD, BCPS

Dr. Zough received her Doctor of Pharmacy degree from USC in 2011 and completed a PGY1 pharmacy practice residency at LLU in 2012. She joined the LLUSP faculty in 2012 in the area of Internal Medicine. Dr. Zough's current clinical practice site is the Internal Medicine Units of LLUMC where she serves as a preceptor for students and residents on clinical rotations. She also serves as the co-faculty advisor for the LLUSP California Pharmacy Student Leadership (CAPSLEAD), CSHP, and ASHP. Additionally, she is taking part in the inter-professional development program with LLU School of Medicine, School of Nursing, and School of Allied Health Professions at LLU Medical Simulation Center. She is currently the faculty advisor for Class of 2017. Dr. Zough teaches and coordinates Pharmacist Self-Care I and Introduction to Disease States (IPDM I) to PY1 students. Dr. Zough serves on the Assessment Committee, University Faculty Council (UFC), and University Diversity Council.
